A Letter From the Principal

The end of the nine weeks comes with many emotions. Feeling stressed and anxious is common because the end means final grades. Some students will end with the grades they like to see and some will not. What I like best about the first nine weeks is it's just the beginning. The final grades are really not final. Students have the opportunity to work harder during the second nine weeks and end with a strong Semester One grade. It takes commitment and effort!

Remember, colleges will see your transcripts and they show semester grades. We have completed the first half of the semester so if you are not satisfied, it is up to you to make the change. If you are satisfied, don't start relaxing now. Everything you do is a reflection of your work ethic. You can finish the semester stronger than you started.

One of the most important lessons in life is to never be satisfied with thinking you have learned everything you need to know. I approach everyday with the expectation that I will learn something new and that knowledge will help me become a better principal. I listen to others, appreciate feedback, and try new things. This type of thinking is a Growth Mindset.

You will never get everything right the first time, but that doesn't mean you have failed. It means that you have to reshape your thinking and try it a different way. The feedback that your teachers give you is not to put you down, it is to be constructive. Use it to help develop your intelligence and in return it will help you grow. Remember, this type of thinking is a Growth Mindset.

I hope your grades will motivate each of you to improve in some area. If you end with all A's, remember you still have areas that you need to improve. Never settle, but stay hungry to learn more. If you are not satisfied with your grades, do not give up. Our failures offer opportunity and growth. Remember, this type of thinking is a Growth Mindset.

I hope everyone enjoys the long weekend and we will return on October 13, 2020 to start the 2nd nine weeks!

- Mrs. Castellanos
